Color Vision 55. Perceptually Uniform Space: MacAdam. • In color space CIE-XYZ, the perceived distance between colors is not equal everywhere • In perceptually uniform color space, Euclidean distances reflect perceived differences between colors • MacAdam ellipses (areas of unperceivable differences) become circles.

Deals with all phases of light, color, and color vision. Provides comprehensive data, formulae, concepts, and procedures needed in basic and applied research in color vision, colorimetry, and photometry. Includes new and expanded material on the latest advances in color science, particularly in color matching, increment-threshold work, chromatic adaption, and the theoretical modelling of color discrimination and other color-vision phenomena.
